

KOHLSAAT SENDS A GLAD MESSAGE

Sweden Will Be Represented at Jamestown Exposition—Cables Commissioner-General.

JUDGE CROCKER RETIRES

Judge Watts, Oldest Member of Bar, Presents Loving Cup on Behalf of Colleagues.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., January 31.—The following cablegram was received today by Mr. Barton Myers, governor of ways and means of the Jamestown Exposition, from Hon. Charles W. Kohlsaat, commissioner-general of the exposition:

"Stockholm, Sweden, Jan. 31, 1907.
"Have had protracted audience with the King. He is deeply interested, and will send his newest warship, with Prince Wilhelm.

"The commercial bodies will have a meeting to-morrow. Sweden is enthusiastic over Jamestown."

The cablegram corroborates the announcement already made, that Sweden will send one of her warships to the exposition.

The Swedish navy consists of five battleships, one cruiser, five gunboats, five torpedo-boats, four monitors and one submarine boat, many of these vessels being modern.

It is expected that the commercial bodies of Stockholm will have an exhibit at the exposition, and it is to be considered that the meeting of the meeting will be held to-morrow.

There has been no change to-day in matters affecting the strike of the longshoremen of the port, no advances having been made either by the shipping companies or men. Two vessels are now loading cargoes in Newport News that would have loaded here but for the strike.

Judge Crocker Retires.

James Francis Crocker, for six years presiding judge of the Portsmouth court of Hustings, ended his career on the bench to-day. The judgeship has been full of honor for him and credit to the people.

The voluntary retirement of the distinguished jurist was made the occasion for an expression of the esteem and affection held for him by the members of the bar of Portsmouth, they presenting to him a massive silver loving cup. On three medallions were inscribed: "To James Francis Crocker, Judge Court of Hustings, 1861-1907. Esteem and Affection from the Bar of Portsmouth, Va."

Judge Hugh R. Watts, the oldest member of the Portsmouth bar, was spokesman, and in presenting the token paid the highest encomium to the ability, independence, fairness, and integrity of Judge Crocker. He spoke of the distinguished jurist's deep learning and high sense of justice, and said that while members of the bar had often differed with the court, they were always impressed with his honesty and desire to do what was right.

Judge Watts said: "You to-day laid aside your judicial robe, which is as spotless as the sword you sheathed at Appomattox.
To-day ends an epoch in your life.
You begin to-morrow, when you become a private citizen." In closing Judge Watts said he desired for the bar to invoke the richest and choicest blessings of Almighty God for him.

Gompers in Norfolk.

President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by Secretary Frank Morrison and Max Morris, international general secretary of the Retail Clerks' Association, will visit the city to-morrow in connection with the labor exhibit at Jamestown Exposition.

During their visit they will address the Retail Clerks' local, No. 236, at their hall, on Church Street.

It is the intention of the retail clerks to have a special organizer brought to this city to round up all the clerks who are not at present in the organization, and to limit the hours of labor during the exposition period.

It is expected that the drug clerks will take steps to join the Norfolk local.

Annuls Charter.

In the Portsmouth Court of Hustings to-day Judge J. F. Crocker overruled a motion for a new trial in the quo warranto proceedings against the Crawford Social Club, and entered an order revoking and annulling the charter of the club.
Judge T. H. Wilcox, counsel for the club, filed a bill of exception, on which he took the case to the Court of Appeals.
At the request of the counsel the judgment was suspended for sixty days, to give the defendant time to prepare papers to present to the Court of Appeals for supersedeas and writ of error.

Reappoints Groner.

Orders were received to-day from Judge Edmund Waddill by Hon. George E. Bowden, clerk of the United States District Court, reappointing Mr. D. Lawrence Groner, referred in bankruptcy at Norfolk; John B. Loggs, at Newport News, and John Goffman, at Cape Charles. These are all the referees in the jurisdiction of this court. The reappointment is for a term of two years.

IN PNEUMONIA'S GRIP; FATHER DEAD, OTHERS ILL

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., January 31.—R. L.
Shreve, aged about thirty-eight years, died at his home here to-day of pneumonia. He leaves a wife and ten children, the eldest of whom is only sixteen years of age. Four of the children of Mr. Shreve are suffering from the same malady which caused the death of their father.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness.
All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing.
Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

MANAGER MAHER MAKES STATEMENT

Explains Origin of Trouble with Engineers and Firemen and Company's Position.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, VA., January 31.—N. D.
Maher, general manager of the Norfolk and Western, to-day issued a lengthy statement in regard to the trouble between the company and the firemen and engineers.

"The controversy," states Mr. Maher, "arose over which of the accredited committees is authorized to negotiate and deal with the management with regard to rules, regulations and rates of pay."

"This brought on the controversy, and the general manager tells of frequent conferences and many propositions rejected without settlement being arrived at. He closes as follows:

"The management of this company has put forth every effort within its power to bring about an amicable adjustment without becoming directly involved in the controversy, in which the company is not directly concerned; but having been drawn or forced into the matter, the management will, with due regard to their obligations to the public and to all our employees, endeavor to protect the company and fearlessly discharge our obligations to all the employes."

BULL GOES MAD.

Farmer Has to Shoot Valuable Animal.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ETNA MILLS, VA., January 31.—Great excitement prevailed on Goose Pond plantation yesterday, when a full grown bull went mad. The animal had not eaten anything for two days. Both man and beast had to get out of its way. It would run the other stock on the place, goring everything it could get to, when Mr. Clarence Williams, the manager, went out by the side of a strong fence with his gun, loaded with buckshot, the bull made for him on the other side. Mr. Williams put the gun right at his head and killed at first shot.

At Christmas Mr. Williams's two Shepherd dogs went mad and bit the bull. Several sheep and a ram had to be killed. There is great fear of other animals having hydrophobia, as one of the dogs went away and came back biting everything in its path.

Weddings in Powhatan.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) POWhatan, VA., January 31.—There were two marriages in Powhatan county to-day. Mr. J. B. Wren and Miss Kate Harris were married at Corinth Church at 3 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Berry, and Mr. W. B. Condy and Miss Maggie Poulton were married at 3 o'clock at the residence of the groom, by Rev.
J. W. Reynolds.

Mr. Wren and bride took the train for Washington soon after the marriage to spend their honeymoon.

GIVE CONTRACT TO PETERSBURG FIRM

The Charles Miller-Walsh Marble Works Will Erect Monument in Surry.

GAMBLERS ARE BEFORE JURY

Police Making Effort to Ascertain What Extent Gambling is Going On in Cockade City.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, VA., January 31.—The contract for a Confederate monument to be erected at Surry county courthouse has been awarded to the Charles Miller-Walsh Marble Works, of this city, by the Memorial Association of Surry, of which Mr. A. W. Bohannon is president.

The design, which is the work of Mr. E. S.
Walsh, is that of the figure of a Confederate cavalier, with his clasped hands resting on the hilt of his sabre. The monument will be of Petersburg granite; base, eight and a half feet square; height, twenty-one and a half feet, including figure.
The cost, complete, will be about $2,100. The monument is to be unveiled in July.

Gamblers Before Grand Jury.
It is understood that a large number of alleged negro gamblers have been summoned to appear before the grand jury, which meets again to-morrow, the purpose being to obtain evidence of gambling houses in the city, two of which were raided by police a few nights ago, and produced a large crop of sports, some of whom, however, were discharged in the Mayor's court because of lack of direct evidence as to the actual gambling.

Burlesque Circus.

The Petersburg Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, are greatly pleased by the fast selling of tickets for their burlesque circus at the Washington Street Skating Rink Friday night. Among the large number of members and friends of the order who will take part in the circus are W. T. Baugh, George A. Berlin, H. V.
Parham, R. G. Spratley, Daniel Dyson, C. P. Allgood, James Hoy, Fletcher Smith, E. L. Ennis, W. L. Harris, Robert Charles, A. R. Moody and many others.

One of the largest and most beautiful entertainments of the social season was given at the Riverside Country Club last night by Miss Minnie McIlwaine and Isabella Martin, in honor of Miss Edith Watkins, Miss Lucille Avey and Miss Elsie Young, of Richmond.

Mrs. Grace Smith Cashion, wife of Mr.
Cabell C. Cashion, died here this morning about 10 o'clock, at her residence at West and Rome Streets, after an illness of about three weeks. Mrs. Cashion was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith.
She was twenty-nine years old, and is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter, mother and father, two brothers and two sisters.

WANT BETTER SERVICE.

Citizens of Cumberland Petition Corporation Commission.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CUMBERLAND, VA., January 31.—At a mass meeting of the citizens of Cumberland county, held at Cumberland Courtthouse yesterday, of which E. R.
Davis was elected chairman and R. O.
Garrett secretary, a resolution was introduced and unanimously passed requesting the State Corporation Commission to give the public a daily passenger train on the T. & W. Railway Company, making connections with the Southern Railway Company at Moseley with the Bon Air train morning and evening.

Cumberland county subscribed $40,000 for the building of the T. & W. Railway Company, and the people feel that they are entitled to a better passenger service than they now have. The matter will come up before the State Corporation Commission on Friday next, and many of our citizens expect to attend the hearing.

MR. RUSSELL LOOKS IN UPON AMELIA SCHOOL

Examiner Spends Day With Superintendent and Teachers.

AMELIA COURTHOUSE, VA., January 31.—Mr. E. H. Russell, examiner for First Circuit, Virginia public school system, was here yesterday, and conducted an examination into the high school, which was established with three graded teachers here on January 1st. Prof.
T. H. White, of Albemarle county, is principal. Miss Lizzie Vaughan teaches the intermediate classes and Mrs. S. A.
Woolton the primary classes. Mr. Russell spent most of the day with the teachers and County Superintendent L. H. Irving in observing the work and assisting in the grading and classification of the work of the high school.

There will be a public teachers' association and an address by Mr. E. H.
Russell here on Saturday, February 2d, at 10:30 A. M. sharp, as Mr. Russell leaves on the 12:35 train. The public is cordially invited to attend.

County Superintendent of Schools Lewis H. Irving is laboring earnestly to increase the efficiency of the schools in this county.

The young people of the village are engaged in setting up an interesting stage performance, to be given within the next two weeks, for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Episcopal Church.

RAILROADS MANIFEST MUCH PUBLIC SPIRIT

Norfolk & Western and Virginia-Carolina Will Carry Exhibits Free to Jamestown.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ABINGDON, VA., January 31.—The Abingdon Business Men's Association had a meeting in the new Opera House last night to hear addresses from Dr. E. A.
Schubert, industrial agent of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, and Bruce C. Banks, chief of the mineral department at the Jamestown Exposition.

The purpose of the meeting was to arouse interest in the exposition and to urge the citizens of Washington county to get up a fine exhibit. The Norfolk and Western Railroad offers to carry free of freight charges everything intended for exhibition.

The Board of Supervisors of this county appropriated $1,000 conditionally, and there is little doubt that the money will be next month be available to the Washington county at Jamestown.

After the speaking an organization was effected by electing Mr. H. Honker chairman and G. C. Porterfield secretary.
A committee of twenty will be appointed to get together samples of wood, ores, fruits and all other products of the county.

Mr. Clark, president of the Colonial Manufacturing Company, will furnish the columns for the Norfolk and Western building, and the Buckley Lumber Company, through S. F. Hurt, will make the arch for the front of the building.

W. E. Morgan, president of the Virginia-Carolina Railroad, with his usual public spirit, offered to deliver free of charge to the Abingdon depot all exhibits collected along the line of his road, and to furnish transportation for those engaged in the work of securing exhibits.
His railroad penetrates the far-famed White Top timber section, as well as the Shady Valley, which is rich beyond computation in iron, manganese and other minerals.

Negro's Aim Was True.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, VA., January 31.—W. C.
Dickerson, colored, died this morning at the hospital, as the result of a bullet wound inflicted last night by a pistol in the hands of Gaston Harvey, also colored. The shooting took place at a festival at the West End colored Baptist Church, and was accidental.

Mrs. Burton Harrison (Constance Cary) is another distinguished authoress whose new volume is to appear at an early day in the series of the Authors and Newspapers' Association.

A notable American novelist and gifted miscellaneous writer, Mrs. Harrison's work has met with unusual success alike from readers and from critics; while socially she has taken a prominent place in New York City as well as in Southern and New England society. Born in Vaucluse, near Alexandria, Virginia, Mrs. Harrison comes of a notable Virginia family which took an active part in public affairs in colonial times and during the Revolutionary War. She is descended on her father's side from Archibald Cary, of Amplehill, Va., who presided over the Senate of his native State from its early organization; while on her mother's side she belonged to the Fairfax family, and was herself educated privately in Virginia. During the Civil War her mother's house was devastated, and the family, in consequence, resided for a time in Richmond. There, in 1867, the future authoress married Mr. Burton Harrison, who had been private secretary to Jefferson Davis. Some years later Mr. Harrison removed to New York, where he became a member of the metropolitan bar. Here his beautiful and interesting wife began to pursue a literary calling by contributing at first to magazines and periodicals; and after establishing a delightful summer home at Bar Harbor, Me., she wrote and issued her first book, "Golden Rod, an Idyl of Mt. Desert" (1879), its theme, like "Bar Harbor Days" (1887), being scenes and incidents in her attractive Maine home.

About this period Mrs. Harrison published "Helen of Troy" (1881), together with several collections of tales.

With maturing powers, a number of delightful books now came from her clever and thoughtful pen, including "The Angeliemans" (1887), a pungent but entertaining satire on society manners.
The commingling of aspiring and newly opulent people with those of hereditary fortune and culture in the resorts of fashion furnished her with themes which she handled with a genial but unsparing pen.

Her new novel for The Times-Dispatch is a delightful and up-to-the-times romance.

Helen Carstairs, daughter of a New York multi-millionaire, goes with her chaperon, Miss Bleecker, to Europe to avoid associating with her father's second wife. Helen has been engaged to John Glynn, a poor but ambitious youth; but they have parted in order to leave his career unimpeded. As the White Star liner is about to leave the pier Glynn appears on the dock.
A pretty girl standing beside Helen near the rail calls to him, addressing him by his first name and throws him a rose. The intimacy thus implied arouses Helen's jealousy. The girl who hailed John is Pamela Winstanley, daughter of Herbert Winstanley, of Alabama, who is taking her on her first trip to Europe. Their seats at table during the voyage are next to those of Helen and Miss Bleecker. Others at the same table are Lord Clandonald, who has recently divorced his wife; Mariol, a famous French author, and a young Englishman named Vane. Pamela at once becomes the belle of the ship, to the annoyance of Miss Bleecker and other women. Helen, whom Pamela secretly admires, treats Miss Winstanley with studied coldness; never mentioning her own acquaintance with Glynn, and repelling the Southern girl's friendly advances. Mariol plans to arrange a match between Clandonald and Helen. Vane, on the other hand, openly adores Pamela. So does a Mr.
Vereker, elderly dyspeptic, and made up to look young—whose wife resents his infatuation. Pamela treats all her admirers alike, but falls to thinking oftener of Clandonald than of any one else. She and John Glynn were brought up together from childhood, when both were poor. Since then Herbert Winstanley has made money, but this fact is unknown to John. Pamela knows John has had another love affair, but is ignorant of its heroine's identity. He has recently proposed to Pamela herself, and she accepted him on the very morning the ship left New York. She tells her father on shipboard of her engagement to Glynn. Winstanley rejoices at the news, although troubled at his daughter's lack of ardor and at her references to Clandonald.
